

In Brief

Your practice needs the most current Canadian drug information available Your practice deserves e-CPS

Based on CPhA's Compendium of Pharmaceuticals and Specialties (CPS), e-CPS is your indispensable resource for credible and reliable drug information. Trusted Canadian content is paired with an intuitive interface and time-saving features, allowing you to spend more time interacting with your patients and less time looking for answers.

Frequently updated and user-friendly, e-CPS gives you instant web access to:

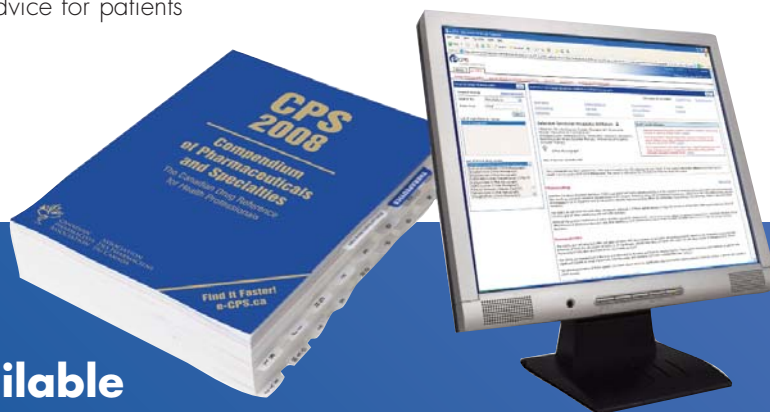

- Thousands of Health Canada-approved drug monographs, plus 129 CPhA monographs, fully searchable and linked directly to Health Canada advisories and warnings
- Printable Information for the Patient handouts, written in plain language, to advise your patients on safe, effective use of their medications
- Full-colour product images, accessed through drug monographs and searchable by appearance

Some of our most recent enhancements include:

- More enhanced search capabilities including an indicator that lets you know whether results are actively marketed products with full prescribing information, discontinued products or drug information written by CPhA
- Printable drug monographs that allow you to select and print only the information you need
- Information for the Patient handouts now in print ready format, giving you professional-looking documents with sound advice for patients

“e-CPS gives us the ability to instantly put vital drug safety information at the fingertips of our front-line practitioners.”

What subscribers think ...

Suzanne Jackson, Drug Information Pharmacist, uses e-CPS at Hamilton Health Sciences Centre in Hamilton, Ontario. Here's what she thinks:

Canadian information

"We've run into situations where a product has come off the US market but is still available, and appropriate, for use in Canada. That's where having Canadian information is a huge benefit."

Health Canada advisories

"Timely access to Health Canada advisories resolves a definite safety issue and fits perfectly with our patient safety mandate."

Product images

"A picture you can display with your own information makes it easier to communicate safety issues to people who might not be seeing it on a daily basis."

Don't take our word for it, try it yourself . . .
